

Performance Management

Performance Management is widely recognised as playing a vital role in the development of the skills, and knowledge within organisations. TSW works with organisations to define the key features of a performance management system that can be integrated within their organisation through systems and procedures, which specifically 'fit' their needs and culture.

It encompasses the alignment of strategic objectives, identification of performance requirements, employee appraisal, counselling and managing poor performance in the workplace.